or In Prospect For Elba Territory

Jack Conaway, Coffee County Forester, said this week that a fre observation tower has been romised for this section, the lefinite location of which has ot been announced. An observation tower is of great benefit the means of preventing and controlling many forest fires that would have otherwise have been costly. Forester Conaway says the abnormally dry season prevailing in this section has increased the fire hazard, but no serious woods ires have occurred in this territory recently. He said the most common cause of woods fires is the burning off of fields or woods and letting the fire spread to nearby forests. He urges all farmers who intend to burn off their fields to notify him and he will be glad to assist in helping to prevent the flames from Forester Conaway calls attention to the fact that approximately twenty-five precent of Coffee County's income is closely connected with forest production and fires are the most serious
